

Panache Style Group Presents Fall Fashion Trends 2013

Washington, DC, September 20, 2013 – Fall is vastly approaching and everything is set for the most anticipated fashion event of the season: Panache Style Group's 2013 Fall Fashion Presentation!

Panache will present the hottest trends of the fall season via webinar Tuesday, September 24th at 7:30 PM EST. The presentation will highlight this season's ready to wear trends, colors of the season, make-up trends and will even dish on the latest "it" finds for handbags, shoes and accessories!

"I am excited to share some of Fall's hottest trends for this season. Fall is a great time to express your style because it's not only the most exciting time in the fashion industry but there is so much to choose from in department stores and boutiques. I am hoping to narrow it down for everyday stylish women who just want to know what to consider adding to their wardrobe this fall without having to read tons of magazines... that's my job!" stated Taneeka Strickland.

Panache Style Group, headquartered in the Washington, DC metro area, is a full service style firm that creates customized style programs to help everyday women identify what looks best on them, how to shop, and over time build a complete wardrobe that they can be proud of. Taneeka Strickland serves as CEO and Stylist and is certified by the prestigious London Image Institute and the International Fashion Style Academy. She has created and developed apparel programs for some of the largest international organizations, and has had tremendous success helping clients to look and feel amazingly stylish.
